Our use of time reflects our values and our priorities. It tells whether our allegiance is to the god of this world or to the God who created time for His honor and glory. Even the ungodly may be very disciplined in their use of time, but if it is not used to serve God and for His kingdom, their discipline is of no lasting value. Our use of time must be profitable, wise, and Christ-centered.
*Aim to use the gift of time as God intended it:
a resource for the increase of His kingdom.*
